Dear Review:

I am writing to support the submission from the Wangan and Jagalingou traditional custodians of land/sites now being destroyed by mining interests - with the cleverly written advisory rules re engagement with the people whose cultural heritage is at stake - thus with engagement only with a certain narrow select group of the wider mob who should be consulted. (Clever - as I wrote - the operative and unethical legalese giving cover to illegalities and discrimination.)

Victoria is currently holding Truth and Reconciliation hearings aimed at healing the ugliness of government policies over First Nations peoples there. I've been following the struggles of Adrian Burragubba and others of the Wangan and Jagalingou peoples over the past number of years - from 2014 I think it is now - fighting the vested interests and government complicity involving Adani and others in the Carmichael Basin area. Lest your own names - shareholders, included - bureaucrats and politicians be named and shamed at some point when Qld finally has its own Truth and Reconciliation Commission - with justice meted out!)

Do the right thing - halt the mining expansion - involve the Wangan and Jagalingou people...

Sincerely

Jim KABLE
